ITINERARY

Our driver will pick you up from your hotel, and we'll start our private tour by visiting the historic Acropolis rock and its unique architectural monuments, dating back 2,500 years, including the greatest of all, the Parthenon. Next is the Acropolis Museum, featuring a remarkable collection of classical art from Athens' golden era. Our next stop will be the Temple of Zeus and the Panathinaikon Stadium, where the first modern international Olympic Games took place in 1896. Then we'll drive past a few historic New Classical buildings in the center of Athens and get an idea of how the city used to look a century ago. We will spend time in the Plaka – an ancient commercial area at the foot of the Acropolis, where you can see Greek and Roman ruins and do some shopping. We will also visit the Archaeological site of the Ancient Agora, the Greek marketplace where philosophers exchanged ideas. After the Agora, we'll continue our Private Tour by moving west out of Athens, following the coastal road to Corinth. After a quick stop at the Corinth Canal, we will drive to the Archaeological Site of Ancient Corinth, where we will visit the Museum and the Ancient Agora. At the Ancient Agora, we will see the Altar of the Apostle Paul, where he stood to address the Jews and residents of Ancient Corinth to convert them to Christianity. On the way back to Athens, and not far from Corinth, we'll make a quick stop at the Ancient Port of Kechries, one of the two ports that served the city at the time, from which the Apostle Paul began his trip back to the Middle East.
